An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. The foreground is dominated by a wide, muddy river. Above the river, a large, irregularly shaped plot of land is outlined in yellow. The plot is mostly green, suggesting grass or low vegetation, with some trees scattered throughout. To the right of the yellow-outlined plot, there is a large, rectangular area of brown, bare earth. The background consists of rolling green hills, several small houses with red roofs, and a dirt road. The overall scene is a typical rural setting.

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. The scene is dominated by green fields and scattered houses with red-tiled roofs. A prominent yellow rectangular outline highlights a specific plot of land in the lower-middle section of the image. The text 'CNC12/09/33/0005' is overlaid in yellow on this plot. In the bottom right corner, there is a body of water with a sandy beach. The overall terrain appears to be a valley or a low-lying area with some elevation changes.

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. The foreground is dominated by a wide, muddy river or stream. Above the river, there are several green fields and patches of brown, possibly harvested or fallow land. A yellow boundary line is drawn on the map, enclosing a specific area of land. The text 'CNC12/10/33/0012' is overlaid in yellow on the map, positioned above the yellow boundary line. In the background, there are more fields, some trees, and a few buildings, including what appears to be a baseball field. The overall scene is a typical rural agricultural area.
